IT seems that he once had I the greatest difficulty in boarding a bus in New York. Everyone was in a hurry and when people did give way to him as they often did, the driver would not wait but would elose his doors and snove on. It, because of stationary vehicles or the presence of another bus at the stop, the car he wanted stood a few yards from the kerb, he could never make it before the doors shut. So at last he thought out a gimmick to get along in this town, bus had broken away from a big gregation demonstration on the lawn of the State Capin. When a crowd defined Presence of the reverse to the doors shut. So at last he thought out a gimmick to get along in this town, you have to have a gimmick."

THERE is little doubt that compared with the average New York bus drivers, the Israeli of the species is a paragon of kindliness, consideration and helpfulness. One soon ceases to even attempt to extract any information whatsoever from the Empire City bus drivers. They discourage conversation, feign deafness and if they do at length answer you, they take care to make their words and you make the from the chool by aggregationists. One the chart words in distributed. I length you make the week as a sease sprayed the crowd.

It is a store that he contend to the conte words indistinct. On the other hand, the passengers will usually try to help you. But since every second person you meet in New York is from out of town, the information you receive in often more optimistic than accurate. Like the advertising accurate when the law of the properties when a law on law of the properties when an law of the properties when an law of the properties when a law of the properties when the passengers when the passengers were properties when the passengers were properties when the passengers will be passengers when the passengers were properties and the passengers were passengers when the passengers were properties and the passengers when the passengers were passengers were passengers when the passengers were passengers when the passengers were passengers were passengers were pa accurate. Lake the accurate ing agencies, who so largely mould the philosophy of this great nation, they try to divine your hidden wishes and make what guidence they supply conform with them rather than with objective

CO you are at length driven beack to a gimmick, and this seems to be symbolic of the new world so rapidly taking shape before our eyes. On television recently a man appeared who had published a book of which only 18 copies were sold. "To what do you attribute the failure copies were sold. "To what do you attribute the failure of your book?" asked the in-terviewer. "I read it. It doesn't seem worse. many others which have no gim-mick," came the prompt re-sponse. De Gaulle Planning Spectacular Initiative in Algerian Struggle ing for Latin America with this intention.

Changing Policies

The British seem to be changing their attitude to the Algerian problem, and have allowed the F.L.N. to open an office in London. According to rumours, President Eisenhower intends to offer his good offices in the question.

Gen. de Gaulle, therefore, will prefer to take spectacular initiative, possibly marking the beginning of a new French policy on the whole Algerian problem.

Meanwhile, the F.L.N. is intensifying diplomatic action; some observers also fear a new outbreak of terrorism, possibly to be extended to France. After the discovery of F.L.N. plans for sabotage action in Lyons and Bordeaux, the police will take special precautionary measures in the weeks preceding a U.N. debate on Algeria.

impelled to discuss it with Mr. Khrushchev, Mr. Eisenhower added.

The President feels that the Chinese Communists are responsible for the trouble in Laos but he has been careful so far not to pin the responsibility for the Laos rebellion on the Soviet Union.

In Washington, the State Department spokesman, Mr. Lincoln White, said the Chinese Communist propaganda outlets had been "spewing into the air" for several weeks, Asked if he was saying that the charges were completely false, Mr. White answered: "I have nothing to add to what I said yesterday on this subject."

The State Department said on Tuesday that the U.S. was establishing no bases in Laos and had no troops there.

All the Chinese Communist are the border with North Vietnam, if the situation the set to mother became serious. His Government was studying a British proposal that a U.N. observer should be sent to report on the Laos situation. But he could not reveal its reaction until a reply had been sent to Dondon. He revealed that the Indian Government last the Indian Government last the Indian Government's official news bulletin issued by Agence Laos Presse said that pro-Communist guerrila rebels in north-east Laos probably totalled several hundred — much less than had been thought.

There has been an all-day luli in the fighting, which disparate the affair.

Mosul Commander

Mr. Eisenhower declared he would question Mr. Khrushchev why he blocked progress at the Geneva conference which might have led to a Big Four summit conference. His declaration came when a reporter asked whether he had changed his standard for attending a summit meeting because the President frequently had said there must be prior progress on Berlin.

The President said his criterion for attending a summit still was that there must be progress he can see.

'Aliya Bet' Methods May Help U.S. Air Defence

From Odessa

HAIFA. — The 500-ton vessel, S.S. Carmela, the first Israel ship to call at a Russian port since the Sinai campaign, arrived home on Monday. She had stayed three days in Odessa and another nine in Constanza, Rumania, and brought 400 tons of raw asbestos. The vessel, belonging to Mediterranean Seaways Ltd., has a crew of 12, of whom seven are Dutch and the rest Israelis. In Odessa they were warmly welcomed by Jewish youths, although the older Jews were afraid to talk with them, they said.

Arkia Switches Flights From Lydda to Tel Aviv

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — Tel Aviv will get a full-fledged municipal airport next Sunday then an Arkia DC-3 takes off from Sde Dov for Eilat. This will mark the inaugural effight of Arkia after its transfer from Lydda Airport.

Maintenance equipment, stores and a refuelling station are now being readied as permanent services attached to this field. Mr. Y. Hausman, General Manager of Arkia, told The Jerusalem Poof that his company would maintain a special "flying operations" staff to control and supervise flights.

He expects special wireless equipment to be installed in the near future which will permit permanent contact to be maintained with all other transmitting stations in the country. "Homing beacons" will also be provided in the near future. A special tarmac covering 30 dunams has also been added to the field.

The reason for Mr. Lavon's omisison is sald to be his impending trip to the U.S., which will take him out of the country for most of the period during which the candidates' list will be hammered out. It is not yet clear whether Mr. Lavon will stand for the Knesset,

TUTANKHAMEN'S SCEPTRE STOLEN

CAIRO (Reuter). — The gold-plated sceptre of Tut-ankhamen, the God-King of Ancient Egypt, has been stolen from Cairo Museum, Egyptian newspapers reported yesterday.

They said the Antiquities Department had appointed Professor Selim Hassan to make a full inventory of the Museum, from which other minor items are reported to have been stolen in the past. The tomb of Tutankhamen, who ruled about 3,500 years ago, was discovered in 1922 by a British Egyptologist, Howard Carter.

Several people associated with the finding of the treasure, including Carter himself, died within a few years of the discovery. This gave rise to a legend that Tutankhamen had laid a curse upon those who should disturb his rest.

ried out at the appropriate sites.

Dr. Yadin also announced that the plans for the building of the National Museum, which is to have archaeological and art sections, were progressing satisfactorily. A public tender was recently issued and the plans presented by Prof. Mansfield were accepted. It is hoped that the first stage of the museum, which is to be built on a hill in the Nave Sha'anan quarter of Jerusalem, will be completed in two years' time.

The first natural reaction to the prospect of such a normalization is that it is none too soon. When negotiations for a financial ettlement between Britain ducted, it was assumed in Whitehall that the next immediate step would, of course, be a resumption or relations. The Egyptian leaders, however, we remon-committal and left the British side to presume whatever it wished. When the agreement was finally signed and all questions of compensation for the Suez operations and sequestered British property were settled, the Egyptians suddenly declared that the whole matter of resuming relations required further consideration and discussion.
